Universi, quod Graeci τ̀ κόσμον appellarunt, attenta mente omnes considerare partes, imo minimas atque obstrusissimas animo velle indagare, plane furor esset, atque ultra humanas foret vires; idciro ut Oceanum illum Naturae tuto pernavigent Philosophi, in varias partes haud irrito successu vastum illum distribuêre campum Naturae Consulti, Astrorum indagationem Astronomis, Terrarum Mariumque notitiam Geographis, Athmosphaeram, Corporibusque insitas Vires Physicis, Corporum vero Naturalium notitiam Historiae Naturalis Cultoribus committentes: atque, prout Subjecta Naturae diversa sunt, ita & Curiosi diversa adquirunt cognomenta, videlicet Lithologorum, Botanicorum, vel Zoologorum.

Lithologi Lapideum Regnum, basin quasi Orbis terrarum constituens, examinant, cui superinductum Vegetabilis Regni tegmen Botanici investigant, Viventia vero utrisque inspersa diligenter, considerant Zoologi.

Quis tantam trium scil. Regnorum Incolarum inter se dispersorum, invicemque sibi opem ferentium copiam non miratur? Quis tanti animi est, ut tot diversas rerum nationes, quibus in peregrinatione physica obviam venit attentus Speculator, ordine & ad suas proprias familias reducat? Quis, dico, tam constans atque prudens est, ut in Ariadneis Naturae filis ac labyrinthis sine errore vagetur, nec quandoque quid pro quo veri devius accipiat? Nemo enim Mortalium tanta gaudet perspicacitate, nisi a Naturae Conditore ipso instructus sit, atque exinde omnium objectorum veros & proprios characteres distincte dinoscat.

Nihilominus tamen, quamvis plurima obstent impedimenta, Herculeo animo ut pertractetur Historia Naturalis, necesse est, quum ex illo amplissimo fonte singula profluant, quibus ad Nutrimentum, Integumentum, Medicamina, Arma idoneis, Oeconomiam, Mercaturam necessariis, & ad profusam Luxuriam Libidinemque ne dicam alendis, Homines utuntur, sed quod & maximum est, quibus Divinam Potentiam, Majestatem, Bonitatem atque Providentiam luculenter perspicimus, atque venerari cogimur.

Pro diverso, quem spectant Eruditi, scopo, Naturae Producta diversimode tractare consuevere atque illa descripsere; hinc tanta Librorum orta farrago, qua obruitur Naturae indagator, ut scire plane nequeat, utrum rem, quam considerandam sibi proposuit, alii jam pertractarint nec ne.

Incitantibus igitur Doctissimis sane Viris, ab hoc perquam taedioso licet labore abhorrerem, vacuum tamen a reliquis negotiis tempus impendere non dubitavi in conscribendo hocce Elencho, in quo exhibentur omnes, quatenus indagari poterant, Tractatus Animale, (solo Homine excepto), Lapideum*que* Regnum illustrantes. Hoc duce Rerum Naturalium Curiosi Rem Lithologicam vel Zoologicam perscrutandi cupidi at incerti ac nescii, quinam Auctores de ea egerint, ducuntur ad obtinendum scopum. Nec in malam mihi imputet partem B. L, si nonnulla Opera in hoc Catalogo omissa fuisse observaverit, supplere enim hoc opus per Auctuaria animum induxi meum, quotiescunque justum &, qui typis exaretur, dignum numerum de Animali & Lapideo Regno Scriptorum vel ipse nactus fuero, vel Clarissimorum Virorum, quorum amicitia ac favore frui mihi contigit, humanitas mihi subministrabit.

Ceterum in eligenda methodo, juxta quam Scriptores recenserem, mihi aliquamdiu aquam haesisse ingenue fateor: tandem vero mihi optimum visum fuit talem adhibere, quae Auctorum Nomina secundum ordinem elementorum, & editos ab illis Tractatus secundum impressionis annos enumerat, praesertim si Index materiarum Alphabeticus ad calcem, ut a me factum est, subjungatur.

Interea scias velim Benevole Lector, istos me, quos ipse perlustravi, hoc signo (*) notasse, iis vero, quos mihi suppeditarit singularis Fautorum meorum atque Amicorum benevolentia, illud (‡) praefixisse. De eorum autem descriptionibus, quibus nullum adpositum est signum, judicent Autoptae, quum illos necdum oculis meis usurpare mihi contigerit.

Opera, quibus usus fui in hac Bibliotheca compilanda, subsequens indicabit Pagina.
